My Dear Friends,

One of the great accounts in the Bible is the story of Israel in the wilderness after they have been delivered by God from bondage into freedom, only to wander in the wilderness for what the text tells us is forty years. (Forty years is a long time!) Their new found freedom quickly grows old, and pretty soon, we are told that the people of Israel are complaining against Moses and Aaron, their leaders. "If only we had died by the hand of the Lord in the land of Egypt, when we sat by the fleshpots and ate our fill of bread; for you have brought us out into this wilderness to kill this whole assembly with hunger." We are not really told what Moses said in response to this complaining, but rather, we are told of how God acts. The people quickly forget the hand that has freed them and led them, and they allow their fear and their hunger to speak to them more powerfully than all of God's providence and grace they have received. So Yahweh says to Moses, "I am going to rain bread from heaven for you, and each day the people shall go out and gather enough for that day. In that way I will test them, whether they will follow my instruction or not. On the sixth day, when they prepare what they bring in, it will be twice as much as they gather on other days." Manna from heaven apparently was a substance that fell off of trees and provided food enough for the day for the Israelites to eat. And that gift from Yahweh was the Lord's answer to the people's complaining and fear. It even included a special provision for the Sabbath, assuming that keeping the Sabbath holy was central to addressing their fear and complaining!

We may not actually receive manna in the exact way that the Israelites did, but we surely understand the story from our own experience. All of us come to wilderness places just like the people of Israel did. We all come to those places between places, where we feel lost and displaced, uncertain of where we are headed, frightened about what tomorrow may hold. We all know the fear of wondering if there will be enough for us. If not enough food, surely we know the fear of wondering if there will be enough recognition, enough love, enough credit, enough health or enough wealth for what tomorrow may demand. And pretty soon, we can find ourselves in the wilderness complaining just as the Israelites did! It is so easy to forget about God's providence and faithfulness to us through all of our yesterdays, and to wonder in fear and anxiety about what tomorrow may hold. In point of fact, God does provide us with manna. Look around and see all the evidences that surround you that remind you of God's providence and faithfulness! The roof over your head, the food you eat each day, the years and years of enough, of having your needs met almost always. These are all signs of God's provision, of the generosity of the Lord God.

When Jesus was asked by His disciples how they should pray, He offered a model for prayer in which we are to ask God for "our daily bread." This is the Biblical theme of manna presenting itself once again. One of my favorite teachers in seminary used to say, "Jesus did not say 'daily cake.'" We are invited by Jesus to pray for our daily needs to be met. That is what is meant in the Lord's Prayer when we pray, "Give us this day our daily bread." And this is a prayer that God promises to answer. In the Heidelberg Catechism we are to ask, "What advantage comes from acknowledging God's creation and providence?" I love the answer! "We learn that we are to be patient in adversity, grateful in the midst of blessing, and to trust our faithful God and Father for the future, assured that no creature shall separate us from His love, since all creatures are so completely in His hand that without His will they cannot even move."

God cares for us daily, and because we all can look around and count our blessings, we can face tomorrow with gladness and generosity. So allow me to close this note to you with words that Jesus used in The Sermon on the Mount. "Therefore do not be anxious about tomorrow, for tomorrow will be anxious for itself. Let the day's own cares be sufficient for the day." No one has ever said it better!

With Love and Prayers,

Todd

The Mission of First Presbyterian Church, Nashville

To know Christ, to make Him known, and to exhibit His love through worship, education, and service.

Sympathy

The First Presbyterian Church family extends prayers and sympathy to the following people and to other members of their family during their time of loss.

Cirque du Dirt 2011

The Youth Ministry kicked off the new school year, welcoming the new 7th grade class, with the traditional mud, crud and shaving cream. Teams competed in sponge wars and shaving cream wars; some ended up in the mud pool at tug-of-war; technique was challenged in mud soccer; teamwork was crucial for the slip-n-slide; and endurance was tested in the treacherous Gauntlet. Many individual awards were earned, but the Kelly Green team, led by Scott Hearon, came out on top. A big thanks to Valerie Cantrell and Mary Jones — our cruddy co-chairs — and all the volunteers who made this event a huge success!

Milestone Celebration

FPC celebrates with our 48 third graders who received their very own student Bibles in worship on Sunday, September 18! The Sunday School hour continued with a host of activities designed to introduce these children and their parents to all the marvelous tools to guide them in future study. Highlights included the sharing of favorite Bible verses and the gifting of the Milestone #9 Faith Stone. It was a truly a day of celebration! The 3rd grade Sunday School classes are following up this Milestone event with a special three-week in-depth exploration of their new Bibles as well as a continued focus on Exploring God's Word throughout the year.

First Friends Older Adult Ministry

■ Sunday, October 16, 12:00 P.M. — Lunch at Barbara's Home Cookin' on Old Hillsboro Road. Enjoy Sunday dinner like it used to be. Menu items $8-$12. No stairs. R.S.V.P. by Friday, October 14.

■ Thursday, October 20, 11:45 A.M. — Thursday Luncheon/Program: Attorney George Cate will share recollections of the perils and politics in the formation of the first Metro Council. George educates and entertains at the same time. Lunch is $6. R.S.V.P. by Monday, October 17.

■ Tuesday, October 25, 9:30 A.M. — Day trip to the Hodge House in Warner Parks. The Hodge House is one of the oldest structures in Davidson County; after a reconstruction in 2008, it offers visitors a rare glimpse at life in the early 1800s when Nashville was part of America's frontier. From the Hodge House we will travel to the Gordon Jewish Community Center to visit the Nashville Holocaust Memorial. On our way back in we will stop for lunch at O'Charley's, returning to the church around 2:30 P.M. Your own lunch will be the only expense. R.S.V.P. by Friday, October 21.

■ Senior S-T-R-E-T-C-H continues on Fridays at 10:30 A.M. — Robbie Wiseman, LMT (Licensed Massage Therapist) will lead us through a range of movement and breath exercises to provide a total body relaxation. This is a weekly event. $5 per session. The Gathering Place. No reservations required.

ROOM IN THE INN MINISTRY STARTS NOVEMBER 2

Christ calls us to love and serve others, just as He has loved and served us. First Presbyterian Church seeks to fulfill Christ's commission to aid the hungry, the stranger and the needy in our community by offering an outreach ministry serving the homeless during the coldest months of the year. We participate in this ministry through Room In The Inn, a city-wide interfaith agency designed to provide assistance to homeless men and women with needs varying from basic food and shelter to those persons ready to take the step of treatment, job placement and housing. Since 1986, Nashville's homeless have been served by congregations across the city whose volunteers provide hospitality, hope and love all in witness to the amazing power of God's love.

Each Wednesday night during November through March, this congregation faithfully lives out our call to serve others by hosting 14 men on our campus. The men spend the night in the Cannon Center (north side of campus near pool) receiving a hot dinner, an opportunity to launder their clothing, take a hot shower and enjoy the ministry of presence and hospitality from members of the congregation who eat dinner or spend the night with them. Breakfast is provided each morning along with a sack lunch to sustain the men until the next evening's dinner, likely at another Nashville church.

We are ready to resume this ministry to Nashville's homeless on Wednesday nights beginning November 2, and we need you to help us fulfill that commitment. A bulletin board with volunteer opportunities and sign-up spaces may be found in Courtenay Hall. The tasks are varied and most require just a very small time commitment, but the reward of service to those in need is immeasurable. Look over these volunteer roles and choose a date to serve with your family, friends or even a committee or Sunday School class.

Volunteer Opportunities for Room In The Inn:

- Weekly Captain: The captain's job is to recruit volunteers to fill the various tasks required for a particular Wednesday night.
- Van Driver: Pick up guests using the FPC bus from Room In The Inn campus on 8th Avenue South, and drive them to FPC; return guests to Room In The Inn Thursday morning.
- Overnight Hosts: Two men are needed to spend the night with the guests and prepare a microwave breakfast the next morning.
- Breakfast and Lunch Food: Donate assembled sandwiches and soft fruit for lunches and also microwave-ready breakfast food.
- Laundry: Wash bed linens, towels and washcloths used by the guests and return to the Cannon Center by the following Monday.
- Dinner Food: Dinners are provided most nights by FPC, however, volunteers are needed to prepare dinners on selected Wednesday nights when there is no meal service at FPC. This year those nights include November 23 (before Thanksgiving), December 21, December 28, January 4 and March 21 (Spring Break). Plan on enough food to serve 18-20 people including extra helpings for the guests and FPC volunteers.

Contact our church Room In The Inn Co-Chairs, George Armistead (george@newbusinessnashville.com or 364-6000), Hal Sauer (hs71@att.net or 243-0167) or Martin Terrien (terrien@bellsouth.net or 891-0986) if you have questions, need further information, or would like to plan a special event for one night of Room In The Inn.

First Friday Bridge

First Friday Bridge kicked off Friday, October 7. Gather a foursome and join us in the Cheek House every first Friday from 1:30 to 4:00 p.m. If you want help putting a table together, please call and we will help you. Some tables come early as well. If you plan on joining us for Bridge, please call Betsy Davies (377-3048). First Friends provides cards and tables, drinks and snacks — all we need now is you!

Adopt A Student

In Hans Christian Andersen's beloved fable, "The Princess and the Pea," we are taught the importance of a good night's rest. The students of Monroe Harding need our help. Presbyterian Women are pleased to partner with the Monroe Harding Children and Youth Home to begin an exciting new project — "Adopt A Student."

As members of First Church, you have the opportunity to purchase new bedding for one of the students living at Monroe Harding's facility. For a mere $200, your family can provide a new mattress, mattress cover and pad, sheets and comforter for the students. You may choose to adopt more than one student! Our goal is 24 mattresses in all.

Checks may be made to First Presbyterian Church with the subject line Monroe Harding Mattress Drive. You may place your checks in the collection plate or give them to Ginny Tindle at the reception desk. Thank you for your compassionate support for such a worthy cause. Who knows? One of the princes or princesses may grow up to rule their own kingdom someday!

Salvation Army Stockings Have Arrived!

Presbyterian Women invite you to "Stuff A Stocking" this holiday season for the children of Middle Tennessee. Each family will receive one stocking included with their Angel Tree gifts. They are filled with items suitable for children ages 1-12, with no food of any kind.

Stockings may be picked up at Ginny Tindle's desk, filled and returned to Ginny's desk through December 5, 2011.

Please do not include items that may be a choking hazard. Coloring Books, small notebooks, crayons, pencils, card games, hats, stickers, puzzles, socks, magnets, balls, glue, paint sets, markers and watches are some suggested stuffers. Different scouting troops, tennis teams, book clubs and Bible study group have chosen Salvation Army Stockings as group projects in the past.

Thank you in advance for serving God and Middle Tennessee families in such a beautiful way this holiday season.

Sunday School Children Help With Disaster Relief

This summer our 4 and 5 year olds created hygiene kits and sent them off to Presbyterian Disaster Assistance for use all over the world. The Rev. John McCullough, Executive Director of Church World Service writes, "Your gift of kits effectively recharges our capacity to respond. Like a battery, our warehouse of emergency response materials must be continually recharged, so that when the need arises, we're ready to act swiftly."

The children prepared the kits as a response to their Bible lesson about how Peter showed compassion and healed the lame man (Acts 3).

Children's Basketball League

Each fall, First Presbyterian Church offers a Children's Basketball League for children in kindergarten up to rising 6th grade. Our season runs from October 29 to December 17, with practices starting during the week of October 17. The fee is $100 for K-3rd grade and $110 for 4th-6th grades. You may register online at www.fpcnashville.org.

EVENING WEEKLY BIBLE STUDY FOR WOMEN

"The Vine"

Studying the Scriptures verse by verse through daily study questions, group discussion and life application

Thursday, 6:00-7:30 P.M. in the Session Room
September 15, 2011 through May 2012

This year's study: the Gospel of John — Jesus said, "I am the way, the truth and the life." Are His words displayed in your life? Your walk and talk are inseparable testimonies to the watching world. Can you give the reason for the hope that is in you to those who ask? John shares with us his relationship with Jesus to bring us closer to the love of Christ. In this verse-by-verse study we will understand more fully the complete joy we have in Jesus Christ and the relationship given to us by the One who said you are My friends.

Study books ($20) will be available at class. Registration forms may be picked up from Ginny Tindle (383-1815).

Good Stewardship is Teaching Our Children to be Responsible

I remember a time when my son, Kevin, was around three. He loved to eat at McDonald's and this was almost a daily request. As his parent, I decided that I needed to create a significant learning opportunity (SLO) out of this penchant for McDonald's. So I waited for his request, and promptly gave the wordy lecture about how much money eating at McDonald's cost and that mom did not enough money to afford eating at a restaurant every day. Kevin looked me in the eye and quickly responded, "Let's just go get money out of that machine you go to. Then we can go to McDonald's." Of course, he was referencing the ATM machine.

Kevin was (and is) a good teacher. While I was all set to give him an SLO, I was the one who ended up with the SLO! It was crystal clear to me that I needed to teach my children how to manage money. I was reminded that children learn best through concrete activities and hands-on learning. For my three year old, the ATM was a money dispenser. There was no connection to that being our money being dispensed.

This fall season is a time within our church when the word stewardship is heard frequently. Families have the opportunity to reflect on their commitment to the church as they discuss and pray about their pledge. As we seek to build faith foundations for life with our children, this time of reflection offers an opportunity for a SLO with our children — fiscal responsibility (or good money management).

Foster Cline and Jim Fay, authors of Parenting with Love and Logic, write, "When we teach our children responsibility, we have accomplished a great share of our parental task. Effective parents equip children to move from total dependence to independence — from being controlled to controlling themselves. Children need to be able to think, to decide, and to live with their decisions. This means that children must learn how to make good choices — good decisions. Responsible children are those who at any age can confront the important decisions of their lives with maturity and good sense. Responsibility cannot be taught; it must be caught."

When we seek to live God's way in God's world, our thinking, deciding and living are shaped by God's desires — for us and for OTHERS. We know that everything belongs to God and that we are responsible for caring for it. . . everything.

Tips for Raising Up Responsible, Generous Children

Participate actively in giving. It takes practice. Children learn best through concrete, hands-on activities.

- Be sure children hear the family discuss giving money to the church — better yet, include them in the discussion about the family's pledge. Let them sign the pledge card, too.
- Providing children with offering envelopes to use for their offering is a very concrete way for them to take a share of money and give it to the church. While technology may have revolutionized giving with automatic withdrawals and e-checks, these are conveniences that don't render understanding to children.
- Teach children to bring an offering to worship weekly — young children can offer a share of the family's pledge, older children can offer their allowance.
- Give regularly and often — as you buy new shoes, give away a pair; a new toy, give away a toy; clothes that don't fit or are not worn, give away. Teach children to care for their things so that when they are done "using" the item, they can give it away for someone else to use.
- Try using the "buy one for me, buy one for someone else" when purchasing basic needs for children. Whether grocery shopping or back to school shopping, this is a great way to talk about the difference between wants and needs and can help children understand their responsibility for taking care of others.

Teach Children How to Manage Money and Give Them Experience Doing It

- Allowance is a great tool for teaching children how to manage money. Cline and Fay offer these four rules:
  1. "Children don't earn their allowances. That means we do not pay them to do their chores. Being paid for chores robs them of the dignity of holding up their fair share of the family workload. We do pay them for chores if they do our chores that we don't want to do."

Radio broadcast of Sunday worship airs at 4:00 P.M. each Sunday on WAMB 1200 AM and 99.3 FM.

2. Give the allowance the same time every week in an envelope.
  3. Never insist that children save (suggest, yes). People learn best to save only after they have learned how to be broke.
  4. Allow children to spend, save or waste the money (as long as it is not illegal activities). BUT: when it's gone, it's gone. No more allowance until next week's money.
- Allowances usually begins when the child is five or six.
  - Kids who struggle with money not only become more fiscally responsible, they also become more responsible in all areas of life.
  - Teach the 80-10-10 guideline: 80 percent of the allowance is for spending, 10 percent for the church, 10 percent for savings.
  - With older children, develop a budget, a written plan for what to do with money. It's simple. The plan shows how much money is coming in and where it's going. Two keys: (1) Money coming in has to equal money going out, and (2) follow the plan.

Peace be with you,
Deb O'Brien, Children's Educator

Older Adult Caregivers Support Group

If you are caring for an aging spouse, parent or other loved one and feel stressed, overwhelmed or isolated due to your situation, or if you would like to learn more about community resources, our group is designed to be a safe place where you can share your experiences and learn from others. The group is open to FPC member and non-member caregivers, so feel free to bring a friend. We will meet on Wednesday, October 26, from 11:30 A.M. to 12:30 P.M. in Vance Hall (Room 222) on the second floor of the Ministry Wing. Our October meeting will be helpful to caregivers who have a spouse or parent with Alzheimer's or a related dementia. Nancy Pertl, Caregiver Education Specialist with the Mental Health Association of Middle Tennessee, will present practical tips for caring for someone with dementia. In her daily work, Nancy consults with caregivers and leads Alzheimer's support groups and classes. As a social worker, she is familiar with many free, helpful resources for families. After her presentation, Nancy will answer questions from caregivers. Questions? Call Sandra Randleman at 298-9502.
